THE DONG-A ILBO

GOVERNMENTAL DISCRIMINATION ON THE FISHING INDUSTRY

Like other fishing towns in Korea, most of the people of Tong-yung are solely dependent on fishing as their only source of livelihood, but due to this system of buying periodical rights of fishing at auction, from the Japanese who has permanent permits the Korean fishermen are at the verge of bankruptcy.

There are numerous permits granted unjustly. For the sake of illustration, Chinha is a naval base. In its vicinity no one is allowed to take a survey to determine the fishing location without proper permission from the naval office, and although several hundred Korean fishermen failed to obtain permits to survey an island near Tong-yung, Hoshino, a Japanese merchant at Fusan was able to obtain three permits last January.

A Japanese in Chinha obtained a permit where the inherent right of fishing for a man named Kim Yung Baik of this district was revoked two years ago.

Hoshino of Fusan has been granted nine permits which he transferred this year for ¥81,500 to a Kim Byung Won of this town, yet the government, not paying any attention to what he does with the permits, continues to grant many permits to a Japanese while those of the Koreans have been cancelled. The discrimination on the part of the governmental policy serves to deprive the weaker and poorer fishermen of their rights and to enrich those wealthy individual Japanese.

Leaving aside politics and policies, but simply in the name of humanity, this trampling down the poverty stricken Koreans to do some favour to the prosperous Japanese is indeed a reflection on the Government-General.
